

The Tooth Extraction

By Dujana Kapisiz

You probably won't believe this at first but let's just say that I've been to the dentist several times so I know the drill (Puns). Today was different, if you don't believe me, well I'd probably look like a crazy man seeking for attention. I'm just gonna get on to the point.

I went to the dentist thinking today was going to be a piece of cake (Idioms). I probably shouldn't have thought about that because you will realise soon what's gonna happen. When I went inside, I saw a hairy bloke who had the biggest mouth in town, I thought it was bigger than the titanic (Hyperbole). He thanked the receptionist and left so it was only me left. I took a magazine and started to read and scroll through the pages. Couple of minutes later, I saw a girl with a head brace on and holding a zip bag with an orange and white fish in it (Allusion). I swear I remember seeing the same person on T.V. before. When the girl was walking out, I saw the fish put his hands together and started to shake it (Personification). I thought he needed help but then I realised I was becoming crazy.

When it was my turn, I went inside and realised something fishy was going on (Idioms). The dentist had so many flowers, I thought he ripped every flower off this world and kept it (Hyperbole). The dentist looked like a flower himself and that he was in his garden (Metaphor). He told me to stay relaxed and take a seat. When I sat down, I turned my head around and saw him go to a sun flower and say, "You are my sunshine (Puns)."

The dentist grabbed some of his materials and placed it on the table. He had floss and some tools on the table but what I didn't realise was that the floss was fertiliser! He grabbed a needle and injected me with it and before I could react, I was asleep. I woke up and realised I was still in the dentist. I thought I was asleep for 40 days and 40 nights (Allusion). I felt something weird in my mouth, I started to shout at the dentist. But he started to cry. Apparently dentists have fillings too (Puns). I used my tongue and felt that what he put inside my mouth wasn't stuff dentists use, he used fertilisers and seeds, he was a florist! Before I could say anything, the bathroom door opened and I saw the "actual" dentist holding a toothbrush. He dropped it and bolted to the "other" dentist and knocked him out. He told me to stay calm and that he would spill water in my mouth. He told me not to swallow it but gargle the water out. I did what he told me to do and I was clean. What did I do after that... Oh yea, the dentist did what he was supposed to do.

I walked out of the dentist feeling like a boss because I was walking so cool. That's what I thought but people started to laugh at me. After that I lived happily ever after (Allusions). Well not for now because I'm stuck here talking to you. After this, I'm gonna go back to live happily ever after. That's the end of my story, I know you don't believe this. So... I'm just gonna go, bye!