

Going to the doctor for an ap

I woke up and realised it's the day I've been dreading, my Dr go in for an injection, but since it's my lucky day I'm running an apple and run out the door. I really wish an apple a day could hope it's not poison, don't want to be like Snow White.

I saw the bus but before I could reach it, it starts zooming c It started raining cats and dogs.

I showed up very late, better late than never I say. I'm drench keeps going worse when I'm told my doctor was booked. I'm the care of Doctor Brown. The clumsiest ad most unqualified in for a treat.

I've been waiting forever and people have been giving me fu girl say "she's as stinky as a skunk". The doctor calls me and trust see stairs because they're always up to something.

Doctor Brown asks me what I need, I tell him just an injecti understands but comes back wth an X-Ray. I'm stunned but goes on the computer and says "My computer throws a fit e going to be a long day.

When he comes back he is a mess, walking around in circles has definitely lost it! This guy is crazy. He stomps up to me demands my foot is broken. I tell him I'm fine but he didn't telling him I could walk, but he wasn't taking any of it. Next for a cast on my leg. Doctor Brown told me this had happen make till he decided to put his foot down weeks till he decided to put his foot down.

I'm sent out of the room wobbling with my crutches, when I'm obliging my request with the injection, he had the needle ready to begin he ended up slipping and injected himself! He is like a

I gave up with trying to get an injection that doctor sure is no longer I would've gotten killed! Just when I think I'm done for and hear a crack! Oh no my foot is broken for real. Not only still due for an injection.

I wish I argued with Doctor Brown telling him that he's wrong but you know what they say "Never argue with your doctor."

Idioms

Metaphor

Allusion

Hyperbole

Pun

Personification
